Opinions of the Press.

"We acknowledge, with much pleasure, that 'Book-Prices Current' is now the most carefully edited work of its kind published in this or any other country."—Athenæum.

"With the present season of book-auctions, 'Book-Prices Current' reaches its 25th year, and it is, we believe, the only purely bibliographical periodical in existence which has continued to appear for a quarter of a century regularly, uninterruptedly, and with a promptitude which is a credit to those who produce it and a boon to those who use it. It has had many rivals and imitators, both at home and abroad; but the only effect of this rivalry has been many improvements in matters of detail."—The Times, Sept. 29th, 1911.

"It exhibits all those good qualities of accurate record which have raised the publication to such a position of universal esteem."—Publishers' Circular.

The Clique says:—"In the course of testing a great number of references, to see whether we could discover any errors, we are glad to say that we can find none. This is high praise when the author says in his preface, 'This Index contains about one hundred thousand entries, while the numerals employed, which closely approach a million, almost defy counting.' Among the great advantages of the Index may be mentioned the promptitude with which the reader may now find and compare the relative value of any book during the decade covered (bringing to a point the various copies sold), enabling him to ascertain whether its value has increased or diminished during the period. . . . The Second Index is so superior to the former one that the permanent value of 'B.P.C.' as a bibliographer's guide is increased fourfold. This index is one of the largest ever compiled, and it represents three years' work."

The Library Association Record says:—"This volume is indispensable to every reference library, and adds considerably to the reputation of English Bibliography."

INTRODUCTION.

THE Auction season which commenced last October proves to have been one of the busiest on record, as well as one of the most successful. Books of every class and kind have never ceased to pour into and from the London auction rooms during the last nine months, and the steady persistency became at last so marked that it almost seemed as though the chief concern of all sorts and conditions of owners was to dispose of their possessions as quickly as possible. This, of course, was an illusion, though none the less indicative of the unrest which has for some time past been observable in the very last places where it might have been expected, namely, in the once quiet private libraries, great or small, that have in their time and at all times furnished poets and essayists with endless themes.

Since October last, that month included, more than sixty high-class sales have taken place in London alone, and the total amount realised has closely approached £200,000, a sum never before equalled in a corresponding period, in this country at any rate. To this amount the third portion of the Huth sale, held at Sotheby's on June 2nd and eight subsequent days, contributed £38,692, though it does not account for the immensity of the general turnover, for last season two instalments of the same Library realised £80,990, and yet the total for the whole season was but £181,780, an unusually large amount, certainly, but considerably less than this season has afforded. It is perfectly clear that the recent activity must be assigned to a specific cause, of which the Huth sale is but one of many factors.

As will be seen from the analysis at the end of the "Table of Contents," the average sum realised through the season was £5 os. 7d., the highest on record, the nearest approach to it being that of the season 1911-1912, when it stood at £5 os. 2d. In 1907 the average was £4 4s. 2d., and that is the next highest.

It is apparent, therefore, that during the last two years an unusually large number of expensive books have come into the market at prices which unquestionably ruled higher than they have ever done before. On the other hand, the tendency of books of an ordinary character—those every-day books which are not primary objects of the collector's regard—is to decline in value, and this they have done to such an extent that a good and useful library might be formed at the present time for about a third less than would have been possible a dozen years ago. Books have consequently become dearer or cheaper according to the kind or class which happens to be in question. There are hundreds and thousands of books which find their way into the auction rooms every season to their bane. They are sometimes derelicts which no one wants—dreary treatises upon nothing in particular, written by unknown men, inferior editions, bad copies and the like—but many are good of their kind, as, for instance, some of the 18th century Greek and Latin classics that time and fashion have passed by. The scholar as distinguished from the collector, though both qualities are often combined in the same person, will find much to interest him at the present time, and in the midst of the war of prices this reflection is comforting and its realisation a distinct gain. The law of compensation holds good even in the matter of books, now cheaper than they have been for a long time past, provided only that rarities and curiosities are avoided.

It may be mentioned that the portion of the Earl of Denbigh's Library, sold at Bangor on May 26th and two following days, is mentioned at page 580 with the sole object of supplementing the record of the sale of the first portion, which is more fully reported (see page 458). A dozen entries have been extracted from the voluminous catalogue of the second portion for purposes of future reference, as the library as a whole was very important, though the prices realised at the Bangor sale were, in many cases at least, much below what might have been expected.

French* cf., 1784, 1777, 1783, folio (306) Quaritch, £900

[The last plate of the third series was misplaced by the binder. There are copies of the first series bearing the imprint "A Paris, de l'Imprimerie de J. Barbou, 1774," but they are exceedingly rare. Besides the 12 plates after Freudeberg in this series there should be a Title, 2 leaves of preliminary "Discours" and 12 leaves of explanation of the subjects. The last leaf of text concludes, "Lu et approuvé ce 15 décembre 1774. Crebillon." "Vu l'approbation, permis d'imprimer ce 17 décembre 1774, Lenoir." The plates bear the inscription, "J. H. E. inv. Freudeberg delineavit," the initials being apparently those of Jean Henri Eberts, the Swiss Banker, who is mentioned in the "Discours." It will be noted that the Auctioneers' Catalogue twice gives the date of publication as 1784, but this is probably an error for 1774 or 1775. The second series contains, in addition to 12 plates after Moreau le Jeune, a title-page, 2 leaves of preliminary Discours and 12 leaves of explanation. The third series has 12 plates after Moreau le Jeune, title, and 2 leaves of explanation (very rare). Of the first series, even isolated etchings or unlettered proofs, with or without borders, are very rare, and the plates with letters and tablets in white, which constitute the first finished state, are anything but easy to meet with. In the second state the tablet is darkened, and in the third state the plates are numbered. As regards Moreau's 24 plates for the second and third series, collectors have generally to be satisfied with the proofs bearing the titles and the letters A.P.D.R. (avec privilège du Roi), but in this copy the plates were in proof state before letters, and in that state are hardly ever met with.—Ed.]

J. Ridge, Newark, 1806, with a copy of the fac. reprint, Quaritch, 1886 (54) Sabin, £445

[Only three other copies are known to exist—Mr. Becher's own copy, from which the facsimile was made; a copy wanting pages 17-20 and 58-66 (the former of which contain the notorious lines "To Mary," never reprinted save in the fac.), presented to John Pigot, and now preserved at Newstead; and a copy sold in these rooms on June 1, 1907. See BOOK-PRICES CURRENT, Vol. xxi., No. 6317. The MS. notes include many corrections in the punctuation, nine corrections of misprints, two words substituted, and one entirely new line ("On a distant view of the village and school of Harrow on the Hill, 1806," stanza 7, line 4). It is interesting to observe that this copy must have been one of the earliest printed, earlier even than the Becher copy, for on page 3 of the fac. the first two lines of the verses "To E——" read

"Let folly smile, to view the names

Of thee and me in friendship twin'd," the present copy reads "and I" in line 2. Also on page 25, in "Thoughts suggested by a College examination," there is a misprint, "trimble" for "tremble" in the present copy, where it is corrected in MS. It is correctly printed in the fac. This copy is offered for sale by the instructions of Mr. T. Brammall Cooper of Bristol, nephew of Mr. Brammall, a banker of Sheffield, to whom it came through his uncle, Mr. John Holland, biographer and friend of James Montgomery the poet. —Catalogue.]
